

Lesson 4. Grammar: Perfect Continuous Tenses in the Active Voice.

Topic: Medical University.

Perfect Continuous Tenses in the Active Voice

Present Perfect Continuous Tense

What is Present Perfect Continuous Tense?

The present perfect continuous tense is employed in a sentence to indicate an action that started in the recent past and is still continuing in the present. It is also referred to as the present perfect progressive tense as the action progresses from the past to the present.

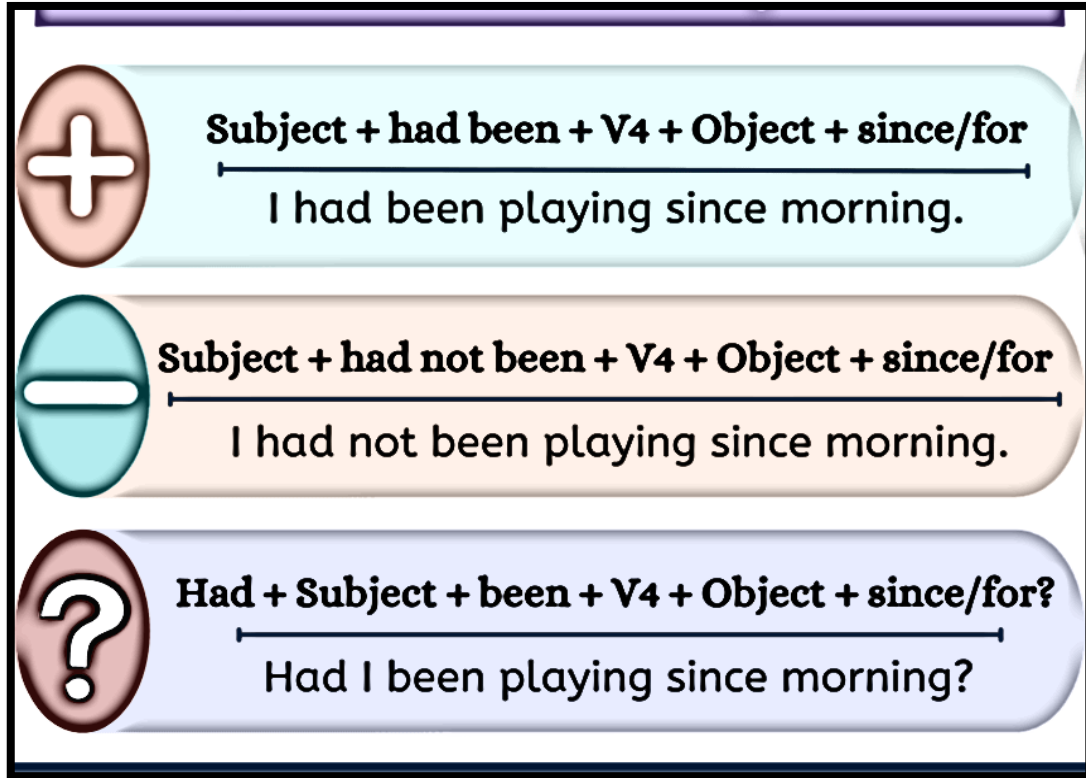

| Helping Verb                                                                                                         | Has been, Have been          |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| Form of verb                                                                                                         | 1 st form of verb |
| Affirmative Sentences                                                                                                |                              |
| Rules: Subject + helping verb + 1 st form of verb + object + since/for + remaining sentence.       |                              |
| Examples: He has been eating the food for 15 minutes food for 15 minutes.                                     |                              |
| Negative Sentences                                                                                                   |                              |
| Rules: Subject + helping verb + not + 1 st form of verb + object + since/for + remaining sentence. |                              |
| Examples: He has not been doing this work.                                                                    |                              |
| Interrogative sentences                                                                                              |                              |
| Rules: Helping verb + subject + 1 st form of verb + object + since/for + remaining sentence.       |                              |
| Examples: Have he been plucking flowers for 15 minutes?                                                       |                              |

Past Perfect Continuous.

What is Past Perfect Continuous?

The past perfect continuous tense refers to a verb tense that we use to express that an action that began in the past and continued up to another point in the past. It is also referred to as the past perfect progressive.

Future Perfect Continuous Tense

What is Future Perfect Continuous Tense?

The future perfect continuous tense is a verb tense that can be used to refer to an action that will be continuing until a certain point of time in the future. The future perfect continuous tense can also be referred to as the future perfect progressive tense as it expresses an action or event that will be progressing to a specific time in the future.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                       |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Helping Verb                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Will have been / shall have been      |
| Form of verb                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 1 st form of verb with ing |
| Affirmative Sentences                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                       |
| Rules: Subject + will / shall + have been + 1 st form of verb with ing + object + since / for + remaining sentence.Examples: We will have been playing in the garden since morning.           |                                       |
| Negative Sentences                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                       |
| Rules: Subject + will / shall + not + have been + 1 st form of verb with ing + object + since / for + remaining sentence.Examples: We will not have been playing in the garden since morning. |                                       |
| Interrogative sentences                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                       |
| Rules: will / shall + subject + have been + 1 st form of verb with ing + object + since / for + remaining sentence.Examples: Will we have been playing in the garden since morning.           |                                       |

